

Eco-Friendly Hardware Coating

Lift-All Co. is committed to helping improve the environment by changing the coating on their tiedown hardware to a more environmentally friendly "Clear Zinc" coating. This new coating has a silver finish as opposed to the current yellow tinted finish, and will not change the superior form, fit, and function of the product line.

We started our green initiative years ago with a suggestion from an employee - and our recycling program was born. Another employee then found a not-for-profit company to donate our old magazines to and it snowballed from there. Changing the coating on our tiedown hardware is another way we can help to ensure that we leave this world in good shape for our children.

The new coating has the same performance results in salt spray testing. For ease of transition for our customers, the product part number, description, and price has remained unchanged.

Lift-All Company has been manufacturing quality lifting and load securement products for over 50 years. With five manufacturing plants located across the USA, a leading Customer Service Department, highly qualified Engineers, and a solution-oriented Field Sales Department - the support you need with the safety you deserve is only a phone call away.
